

Grooming Multiple Dogs in one location.

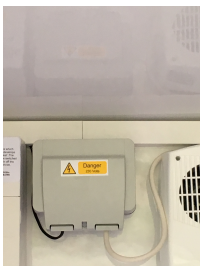

Your conversion's lights and water pump are connected to your vehicle battery to enable them to always work even when your van is not plugged in. As you drive between grooms your battery charges as you drive.

If you are grooming a multitude of dogs in one location and have the lights and the water pump on and you will not be driving in between grooms then the battery will not be able to recharge.

To combat this, we have fitted a special Split Battery Charger which charges your battery for you when your grooming so your battery can charge without you driving around.

You can choose to have the charger on or off, you can leave it on all the time or turn it off if your not grooming lots of dogs in one location, it's up to you :)

The battery charger is located in the cab behind the drivers seat, and its plug can be found in the first white socket in the loadspace where it can be turned on or off. It's instruction Manual can be found in your care pack.
